Introduction

Golden Gate National Recreation Area

Park Description

Golden Gate National Recreation Area (GGNRA), a unit of the National Park Service, was established by an Act of Congress on October 27, 1972. The 80,000-acre park encompasses a great diversity of cultural and natural resources in and around the Bay Area of San Francisco, California. It includes Muir Woods National Monument and Fort Point National Historic Site.

The park holds almost five million three-dimensional and documentary artifacts dating from the time before European contact to the present. They are preserved and maintained for the public by the Division of Cultural Resources and Museum Management, which includes the Park Archives and Records Center (PARC).

Park Archives and Records Center

Historical Note

GGNRA and the sites within it have been collecting records since their inception. The PARC was established in 1994 to receive records and archival collections from the U.S. Army and the Presidio Army Museum after the closure of the Presidio of San Francisco as an Army base. The collections continue to grow through the donation of materials by private individuals, transfer of inactive park records by staff, and acquisition of relevant documentary materials.

Scope of Collections

The archival collections in the custody of the GGNRA document the history and activity of the various sites and groups associated with the park, described in the park's Scope of Collection Statement (2009).

The PARC contains U.S. Army and National Park Service facility records for the Presidio of San Francisco, forts and coast defense sites in the area, and various GGNRA sites. Subjects and sites documented include the United States Army (Bear Flag Revolt, Civil War, Spanish-American War, Mexican War, World War I, Army Air Service, Coast Artillery, Army medical facilities and issues, World War II, Army support during natural disasters, Viet Nam War, and Operation Desert Storm); Alcatraz Island (Army fortress, Army Disciplinary Barracks, U.S. Penitentiary, and Indian Occupation); the natural resources conservation movement resulting in the establishment of Muir Woods National Monument; agriculture in the Marin Headlands; Point Reyes Peninsula and Bolinas Lagoon areas; U.S. Lifesaving/Coast Guard Services; San Francisco Earthquake and Fire of 1906; Panama Pacific International Exposition of 1915; natural resources and environmental issues; and preservation of open space in the Bay Area. Also included in the PARC are many of the GGNRA administrative records that document the development and expansion of this park.

Visiting the PARC for Research

The PARC is located in an historic brick building, formerly a cavalry stable, on the Presidio of San Francisco. Collections and archives support services are available for walk-in research during open hours or by appointment. Please contact the PARC (see below) for the current schedule of reference hours.

Copy Services

Black and white photocopy services for standard and oversize materials are available on-site. Color photocopying, photographic duplication, and duplication of other media are available by special arrangement. Researchers are charged for all duplicates on a cost-recovery basis.

Rights and Publications

Copies are provided under the Fair Use provisions of the Copyright Law (Title 17, U.S.C.). Researchers must complete a Permission to Publish Contract form with the Park Archivist for any other intended use of these materials (such as publication or exhibit). Researchers should consult with staff regarding their needs for commercial or public use of materials.

Legal Status of Holdings

Many holdings of the PARC were acquired/transferred prior to the establishment of the archives program, and have little documentation on their provenance (source/chain of custody). All materials received after 1994 have been accessioned and documented. If provenance cannot be determined, the PARC assumes that it owns the property rights, but does not own the copyright. Staff will provide assistance, but it is the responsibility of the researcher to acquire permission from the copyright holder to cite, quote, or reproduce collection materials.

Collections developed by or for government organizations or operations are in the public domain and may be used, cited, and quoted without restriction, provided they are properly credited to the PARC. The archives contain no national security classified materials.

Donations to the Collections

The PARC welcomes donations of a variety of historic materials that meet the criteria in the Scope of Collections Statement and do not duplicate existing holdings. Collections are maintained for research use in perpetuity; there is no guarantee that items will be exhibited. If you own materials that may be relevant to the themes of GGNRA and would like to deposit them in the PARC, please consult with an archivist.

How to Use This Finding Aid

This document contains information on the contents and significance of an archival collection. It includes descriptive information; repository information; collection history; biographical or historical information on creators of the collection; and a container or folder list of everything in the collection. After reviewing the finding aid, please discuss your specific needs with the archivist who will locate and retrieve the relevant materials.

How to Use the Collections

Please follow all rules and regulations regarding research, the use of the research facility, and the handling of collection materials. This will protect the collections so they continue to be available for generations to come. If anything appears to be out of order or damaged, please notify a staff member.

Provenance

The records were maintained and created by the operation of the United States Army, Directorate of Public Works (DPW), Engineering Plans and Services Division (EP&S) headquartered in Presidio of San Francisco Building 283. The records were transferred to the National Park Service (NPS) upon the deactivation of the Presidio of San Francisco (PSF) and the transfer of the Army's property to the NPS in 1994. On September 2, 1994, the National Park Service requested the release of certain records held in the custody of the U.S. Army that concern the facilities and resources the NPS would be managing in place of the Army. These records, with some exceptions, were released and transferred to the National Park Service in accordance with the terms of cooperative agreements, and partially consisted of the materials in this collection.

Scope and Content Note

The United States Army Directorate of Public Works Engineering Plans and Services Division Visual Materials date from circa 1820 to 1985 with bulk dates from 1954 to 1978. The records document maps, plans, photographs, and other documentary materials that were in the Army's possession circa 1985, at which time the material was replicated into the form of microfiche aperture cards. In addition to aperture cards, the records also include microfiche, photographs, and photographic slides. The records document the United States Army operation and management at the Presidio of San Francisco and its subinstallations including Forts Baker, Barry, Cronkhite, Funston, Mason, Miley, Point, and Winfield Scott as well as coastal defense sites, Nike missile sites, Army Reserve Centers, other military sites, and other non-military sites in the Bay Area. The records relate to real property utilization and land and resource management at these sites.

Note: The Army records group included in this collection was surveyed prior to the processing and some material unrelated to the Golden Gate National Recreation Area's scope was discarded or transferred.

Organization and Arrangement

The United States Army Directorate of Public Works Engineering Plans and Services Division Visual Materials are organized into three series.

Series I: Aperture Cards

Arranged geographically and topically.

Series II: Microfiche

Arranged topically.

Series III: Photographic Media

Arranged by media.

Significance

The United States Army Directorate of Public Works Engineering Plans and Services Division Visual Materials contain significant information regarding the management of the facilities, utilities, and resources administered by the United States Army at the Presidio of San Francisco. The records provide insight into the historic management of the areas now within the boundaries of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area and will support further management and preservation of these areas. The files are original to the site and are not contained or duplicated elsewhere.

The aperture cards represent a selection of the maps, plans, and other documentation the Army was in possession of at the time of the microfilming project circa 1985. Since that time, the Army records that these aperture cards were made from were transferred to the GGNRA Park Archives and have subsequently been surveyed and select out-of-scope records were weeded or transferred to other repositories. Also, some of the records captured by the aperture cards were never transferred in hardcopy form to the GGNRA Park Archives. Therefore, the aperture cards represent what was in the Army records holdings at the Presidio of San Francisco at one point in time. Some of the plans that are documented in the aperture cards having been destroyed or transferred to other repositories could not necessarily be located again.

Condition

Overall the records are in good and stable condition. Some of the aperture cards have condition issues including silvering, adhesive failure, and acid burn. The original section dividers were made from acidic card stock and were replaced by acid free stock during the rehousing process. The aperture cards were rehousing into acid free boxes with acid free dividers. Many of the aperture cards have handwritten descriptive notes in pen, pencil, and/or ink stamp. The aperture cards were created through replication of existing Army maps and plans; therefore, the quality and completeness of the microfiche image is dependent upon the quality and completeness of the original plan or map. Some of the aperture cards are overly dark or light in density, or are poorly replicated. Some of the aperture cards are mounted backwards.

History

The Army at the Presidio of San Francisco

The U.S. Army was stationed at the Presidio of San Francisco from 1846-1994, the last Army headquarters being the Sixth U.S. Army. The Presidio of San Francisco military reservation at the Golden Gate developed into the most important Army post on the Pacific Coast. Over time its armaments evolved from smooth bore cannons to modern missiles. It became the nerve center of a coastal defense system that eventually included Alcatraz and Angel Island and that reached as far north as the Marin Headlands and as far south as Fort Funston. These lands were all incorporated into the Golden Gate National Recreation Area beginning in 1972. Eventually, there were five distinct posts at the Presidio, each with its own commander: the Main Post, Fort Point, Letterman Hospital, Fort Winfield Scott, and Crissy Army Air Field. Also on the 1,491-acre reservation were a Coast Guard lifesaving station and a U.S. Public Health Service Hospital. The Presidio of San Francisco's subinstallations included Forts Baker, Barry, Cronkhite, Funston, Mason, and Miley, as well as various U.S. Army Reserve Centers throughout the San Francisco Bay Area.¹

In 1972, the Presidio of San Francisco, then an active installation, was included within the boundaries of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area. In 1989, the Presidio of San Francisco was selected to close as part of the Base Realignment and Closure Act that was designed to close excess military bases. On October 1, 1994, after the post became excess to military needs, it was transferred to the National Park Service.²
