

Ordering Image Reproductions

High quality or high-resolution versions of collections materials are available on request. The park has established fees for duplication and delivery, and in some cases, digitization when the item hasn't been previously digitized. These fees subsidize the cost of providing image reproductions and directly support the preservation of the park's image collections. All fees are per image, and include a high resolution, publication-quality digital image file, with the exception of files intended for use on the Internet, which are optimized for screen viewing at 72 ppi.
