

Friends of Giacomini Wetlands Presents a Series of Free Field Seminars

Robert Campbell

To celebrate the formation of Friends of Giacomini Wetlands, the Point Reyes National Seashore Association and the National Park Service are hosting a series of field seminars in 2009. Open to the public at no cost, the seminars will meet at 10 a.m., at the corner of 5th and C Streets in Point Reyes Station, and last around an hour, unless otherwise noted.

Saturday, April 25: Breeding and Migrant Birds

Instructor: Jules Evens, Principal, Avocet Research Associates

Saturday, June 20: Hydrology

Instructors: Rachel Kamman, Principal, Kamman Hydrology and Engineering Brannon Ketcham, Hydrologist/Water Resources Chief

Saturday, August 29: Wetlands

Instructor: Lorraine Parsons, Project Manager/Wetland Ecologist, NPS

Saturday, October 24: Changing Flow Patterns and Fish Use in the Giacomini Restoration Area

*Instructors: Brannon Ketcham, Hydrologist/Water Resources Chief
Michael Reichmuth, Fisheries Biologist, NPS*

Sunday, October 25: First Anniversary of "Going Tidal" (the levee breach)

Details available at a later date

