

Come help remove invasive cattails in the Giacomini Wetland

Saturday, October 12
10:30 – 2 PM

Join the effort to keep open water habitat in Tomasini Pond as we cut back invasive hybrid cattails. Cutting the stalks below winter's water level will control the hybrid's expansion into shallow open water zones of the pond. This will allow growth and expansion of native plants and continued use of the pond by a diverse assemblage of bird, amphibian and mammalian wildlife.

Please RSVP to:

Equipment will be provided, but please bring water bottle and wear rubber boots or waders. Please contact me ahead of time if you need to borrow boots or waders. We will meet at the white Giacomini Barn, overlooking the wetland. Heavy rain cancels.
